- for Anna Maria (LING), see Reminiscences of a Loughton Life by Percy Ambrose, Chigwell Local History Society, 1995.

In 1881 Peter's birthplace is shown as Hatfield in Essex. However in 1861 it was given as Rochford, which is not particularly near any of the Hatfields. I think this is tied up in some way with the Poor Law removals. Everything else about him is to do with Hundon.

 'miner'. Parents both 'deceased' (not named). Papers also marked 'farm labourer'. Victory medal awarded 15.3.22.

Stanley Alfred's paternity is attested by his marriage certificate, Ivy Gladys' by her baptism.
 Stanley William and Albert's is asserted in terrycoy21's family trees on Ancestry, without any of the others.
 There is something slightly odd about this.

^ Shortly after her husband died, Alice was crossing a street in Paris, and she was hit by a vehicle, injured on the head and immediately forgot her French, so couldn't give her name or address. Julia came to France and took care of Alice's sons. See Peter Andrew Fontanille-Mortlock's post on the Mortlock website. Date of death here, however (at 5 Rue St Denis, Nanterre) is from the original French record. Julia d.Havre 1.9.1918 [PRO, RG35/44 p.562].

WWCM and Elizabeth and the first four of this family, presumably after failing to make things stick in Lincolnshire, tried their luck first in the US, arriving Boston 8.8.70 in the Tripoli of Glasgow, and then in Australia, arriving November 1881 aboard the Norfolk. However, clearly this didn't work, and, after a throw at East Ham, 1884 sees them in Beckenham, Kent, as above.

In 1881 this second family of Frederick Henry's [marked @] was in Devon (4, Hr Wellesley Rd, Finglewood, Tormorham), without Frederick, who was lodging at 8, Venn St, Nottingham, described as a 'cliquer'. In 1869 he had gone bust as a bootmaker in London [Times, 21.8.69] If he was the Frederick given 18months for larceny at Herts Assizes 5.3.1877 that may explain things - a shoemaker on his uppers.
